Dix pater in tenues moribundus abiuerat auras: Ecce, parant lites pueri: quis iure relictas Ofurparet opes, & amicæ munera Sortis. Ontinuo Iudex defuncti membra parentis Arboris affixit trunco : qui pectora tanget, Inquit, babebit opes, illi patrimonia cedent. amá duo primi genitoris viscera telis raijciunt : minimus nulla ratione volebat Ladere membra patris, potius sed linquere vitam_. Hunc pietas natum testata est esse parentis, am vires superat Natura potentior omnes.

Created in 1971, the French National Reproduction Centre for PhD Dissertations ANRT is a public body under the French Ministry of Higher Education and Research. It is attached as a service to the University of Lille 3, on the campus at Villeneuve-d'Ascq, in Northern France.

The ANRT national mandate is to preserve French PhD dissertations, to disseminate them in the academic network of French university libraries, and to contribute to the valorization of the French academic production.

Initially an offset print and microfiche service, ANRT started its digital revolution in the early 2000s. Today ANRT is a major provider of tailored digitization solutions and contributes to Higher Education and research in the field of Library and Information Sciences.
